

Resident Physician of the Month: April 2019

Dr. Annie Hutchison
Family Medicine
University of Alberta

I was born and raised just outside Calgary, in Bragg Creek, Alberta. After graduating from high school, I moved to Montreal to pursue an Honours Degree in Physiology from McGill University. I headed back west to Edmonton for medical school, and continued my studies in Edmonton throughout my residency in Family Medicine. I really enjoyed spending time in Bonneyville, and Peace River for my rural rotations over the course of my studies so far. I will be continuing at the University of Alberta as a resident physician in the Family Medicine - Emergency Medicine program.

I enjoy ball hockey and ice hockey, and recently adopted a cat from the Edmonton Humane Society. I love travelling, and feel grateful for all the opportunities I have had to experience different parts of the world. I have been embracing my love for baking and appreciate many friends and colleagues for serving as a testing ground for new recipes. I have really appreciated the chance to spend more time with my family in Alberta, especially my nieces and nephew.

Thank you for the nomination: it is truly an honour to be considered. I deeply respect the work that resident physicians do, the teaching and training that I have received from my preceptors and staff, and the friendships I have built over the course of my residency.

Colleagues had this to say about Dr. Annie Hutchison:

“Annie is a family medicine resident physician who is continually finding ways to support her co-resident physicians. She will often bring a batch of homemade cookies to the resident physician lounge for other resident physicians and medical students to enjoy. She is willing to go out of her way to support other resident physicians. I was recently on-call for a 24 hour in-house surgery shift and had not had time to stop for supper. When Annie was finishing her shift in the emergency department, she took the time to buy me a tea and something to eat before she went home for the night. I am grateful to have a co-resident physician who is such a kind, thoughtful, and generous person.”

Congratulations Dr. Annie Hutchison!
